To her, who has ever been our friend and guide,
who by her far-reaching influence has ever impelled us to nobler deeds and truer thoughts, the Seniors of 1916 unite to express their love and gratitude.

Seniors of 1916

SELMA MCCOMAS, A. B. President
Glasgow, Ky.

"Ye gods, behold a woman who thinks!"

An ardent advocate of her own views, she yet sometimes may be converted to the views of others; an instigator of campaigns, she yet is sometimes willing to be in the ranks; a suffragist enthusiast, she sometimes stoops to mere man.

HAZEL PFAU, A. B.
Portsmouth, Ohio

*"But a merrier man within the limits of becoming mirth,
I never spent an hour's talk withal."*

A dispeller of the blues, her carefree manner and ever-ready laugh belie an accuracy of thinking and a clearness of insight that find expression in an excellent student. Hazel might briefly be described as follows: "A generous heart, a generous mind, and altogether a jolly good fellow." Her great success as Miss Euphemia in "Miss Fearless & Co." leads us to predict a bright future for her in the dramatic world.

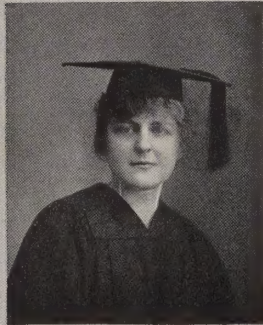

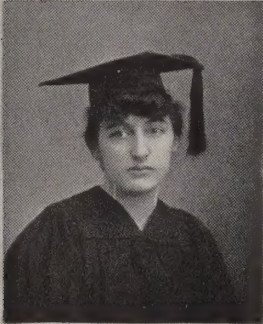

LUCILLE TERRELL, Music
Memphis, Tenn.

*"There is a garden in her face,
Where roses and white lilies blow."*

This charming maid smiles herself into places impossible for others to attain. She smiled her way as "one of the girls" through "Miss Fearless & Co." So winsome, so radiant is that smile, everyone submits to it.

MARY KIRTPATRICK, B. S.
Bristol, Va.

Sullins College Senior.

VELMA READER
Okolona, Miss.

"Her ivory hands upon the ivory keys Strayed in fitful fantasy."

Velma has won our admiration and esteem by the sincere, unselfish, and dignified manner in which she conducts herself. She is especially gifted in music, and we predict a successful career for her.

KATE RAWLS, Music
Franklin, Va.

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast."

Kate is a girl to whom we look in the midst of a storm. Always calm, cool, self-possessed, she paddles her own canoe, but she is always willing to give aid to a struggling sister. Her even temper, her amiability have endeared her to her classmates.

RUBY RUSH, A. B. Music
Tompkinsville, Ky.

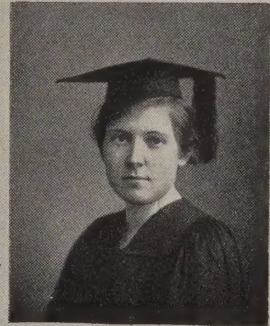

*"So like they were, no mortal might one
from the other know."*

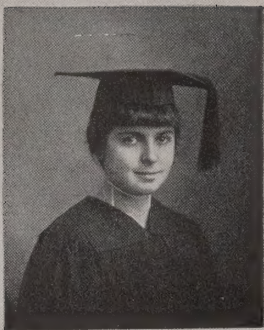

The Senior Class of V. I. C. is justly proud of its twins. A powerful aid in any movement, they usually accomplish what they go in for. Double strength can do twice the work of a single one. The Twins live a merry life. Their only real trouble is that of forgetting which is which, but fortunately there is never any serious result.

MINNIE ROUSE, A. B.

"Attempt the end, and never stand in doubt, Nothing so deep but search will find it out."

Perseverance is Minnie's by-word. Never will she be placed among idlers. When examination time comes the light is found burning in her room far into the wee, small hours of the night. Not only is she diligent in her literary pursuits, but the Y. W. C. A. has been much benefited by her able support.

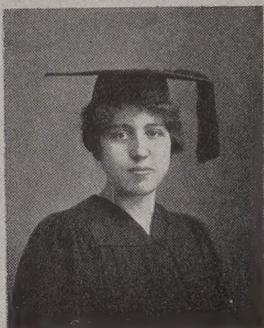

ELEANOR KINCANNON, A. B.
Scottsburg, Va.

"Woman's at best a contradiction still."

No one would know it is little "El" when you see her on the basket ball field scoring for the Seniors. But when they need that extra point in the game Eleanor is right there. She scores in everything. What if the Senior course is difficult? "Take the work slowly" is Eleanor's motto, "and you will always come out on top."

LURA MINYARD, Music
Greenwood, Miss.

"How doth the little busy bee Improve each shining hour!"

She sews, she cooks, she sweeps, she sings, she plays. Verily, a modern Martha is she. In the big "Lane" of life that hath no turning, we trust she may find ample opportunity for the use of her many talents.

EUGENIA PATTEN, A. B.
Highland, N. Y.

"Her high endeavors are an inward light."

Patten's Northern energy has won her the everlasting gratitude of the Seniors. She is ever ready to defend the Allies, Student Government, Woman Suffrage, Charles Darwin, and the methods of Vassar. Possessing as she does an unusually penetrative intellect, combined with a warm, sympathetic temperament, we prophesy that some day she will ride one of her hobbies through the gateway of success.

HELEN OWENS, Music
Franklin, Va.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

Our little Jap is always ready to laugh on the slightest provocation. She finds it impossible, however, to convince Mrs. Zeigler of the fact that she is really better than a dose of medicine for the long-suffering infirmity patients. Her originality is manifest on all occasions and makes her an ever welcome guest.

MARIAN SULLIVAN, Domestic Science-Art
Lima, Ohio

*"Impulsive, earnest, prompt to act
And make her generous thoughts a fact."*

There are at least two sides to Marian—her looks and her voice. The first of these needs no comment. As for the latter, it was heard in two dramas, "The Servant in the House," and "Miss Fearless & Co." It has sounded from the President's chair of the Harrisonian Society, and was heard at the Constitutional Convention of Student Government.

EULA DUTTON, A. B.
Meadow View, Va.

"Her birthstone has the lustre of reticence and the color of content."

Beneath a calm exterior, she carries a mixture of philosophy and animation. The sun shines for her on a rainy day, and sometimes the cold North wind blights the fresh green leaves of her June. Truly Eula has the variety of an April day.

CLARA HECK, A. B.
Madison, Ind.

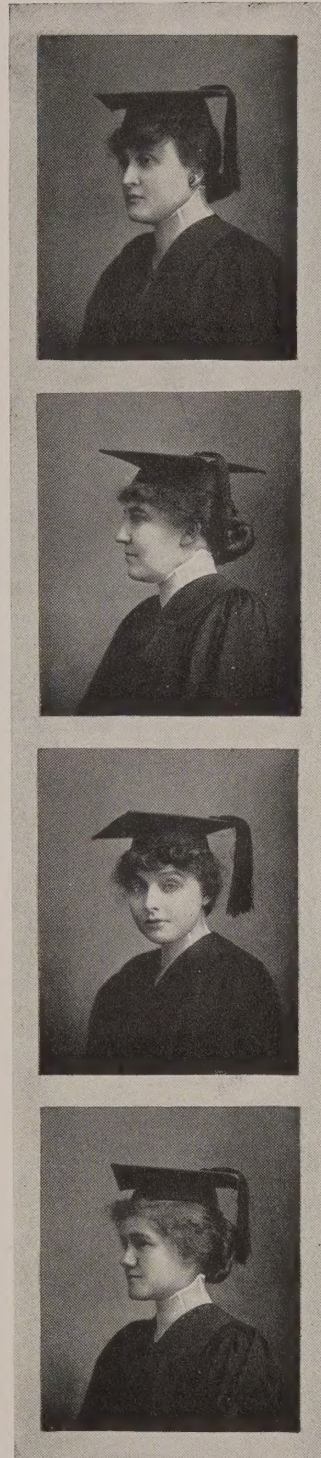

*"There is such a charm in melancholy
I would not if I could be gay."*

Clara is of a very practical turn of mind. She likes better than anything else to talk in what she calls a "line," which may begin with the greatness of Kaiser "Bill" and continue until the speaker is almost a total "wreck." But, nevertheless, it is always interesting and expressed in an original and fascinating manner.

LEOLA SNODGRASS, A. B.
Meadow View, Va.

*"Not too serious, not too gay,
But altogether a jolly good fellow."*

Ready of wit, friendly in spirit, willing to co-operate; neither too studious, nor too negligent, she represents the happy medium that balances more extreme types.

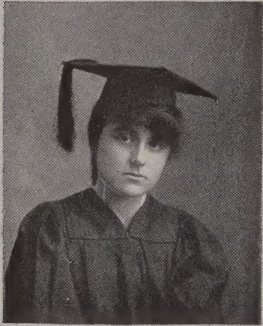

DELILAH JOHNSON, A. B.
Knoxville, Tenn.

*"Her voice was ever soft, gentle and low,
an excellent thing in woman."*

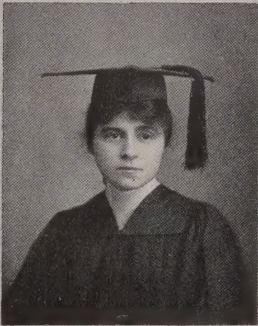

The most outstanding characteristic of Delilah is that she never gets excited. Quiet and reserved, living in an age of headlong speech, she stands an exponent of a vanishing race, the quiet, reassuring personalities, attending to their own affairs.

MRS. HERBERT HAYES
(nee MARY HOLLINGER), Voice
Bristol, Va.

"I leave myself, my friends and all, for love."

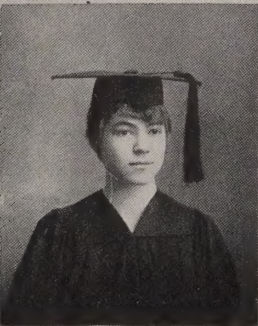

Honk! Honk! What matters if gasoline runs high? That is just Mary's method of getting Hayes-ed. Most colleges forbid such practices, but who would think that anyone would take it so seriously? Mary has two soft brown eyes which belong to Her—b-(er)t. Beware.

INEZ HESTER, A. B., Expression
Chase City, Va.

"She has a glowing heart they say, Though Calm her seeming be."

Resourceful and reserved as she goes through life, Inez gathers much learning. We have discovered, however, in her role which she played in "The Servant in the House" that she possesses a great depth of soul. We predict for her a brilliant career in the Art of Expression.

GENEVIEVE ELLIS, B. L.
Clarksdale, Miss.

*"Sometimes cunning, sometimes coy,
Yet she never fails to please."*

Here is a girl who has so many sides that she very nearly approaches the circle of perfection. In athletics she is very good, in social life well known, and as a factor to uphold school spirit you may depend upon her.

BLANCHE SIMPSON, Voice
Bluefield, W. Va.

*"She loved to sing and act, and play,
But looks were only in her way."*

Blanche is the example of the happy lark that warbles high. If she warbles long and high enough there is no telling to what heights she may soar. She dreams of becoming an opera singer,—and who knows? Yet the larking is almost as important to her as the warbling, and there may be a conflict.

LAKE DUTTON, A. B.
Meadow View, Va.

"A spirit so still and quiet that her motion blushes at itself."

There are small lakes and large lakes rough lakes and calm lakes, but our lake is neither large nor small but decidedly placid. Since still water runs deep, Lake is not an exception.

LILA KATE POWERS, A. B.
Bristol, Tenn.

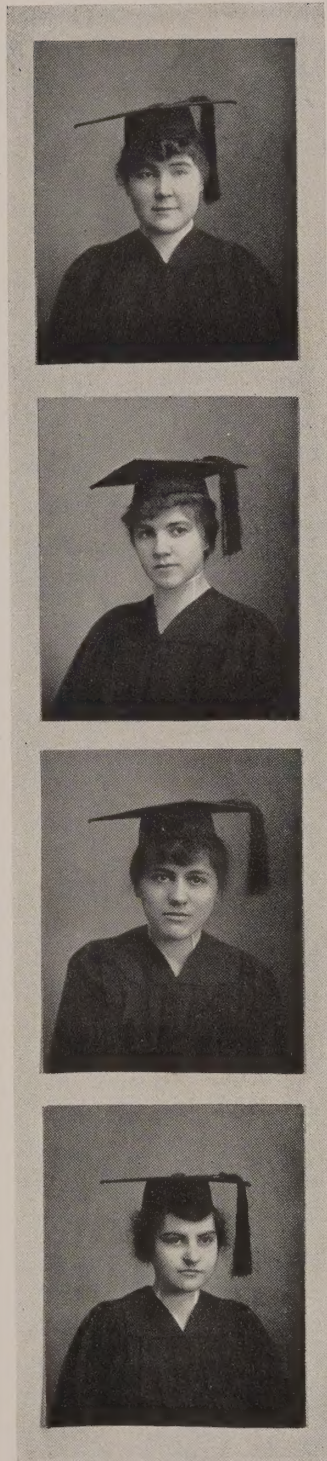

"Every one who knows her likes her."

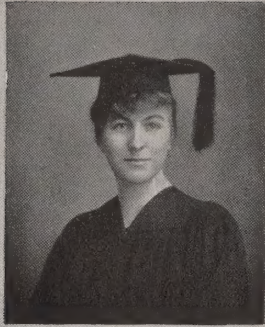

Have I not said enough? She is always dependable, sensible, reliable. She makes herself a part of the backbone of any organization with which she is connected. The keynote of her life is "to be," not "to seem."

WILLIE MAY CUILLEN, A. B. Art

*"Nature made her what she is,
And never made another."*

Upon first acquaintance with Willie May one rarely comprehends the deep intellect, the active genius hidden so closely between a calm, almost cold exterior. Nevertheless, the fiery spirit is there, which finds an outlet on canvas. Her tapestry, "Hope and Memory" is a clever piece of art, and may serve as a stepping stone to fame.

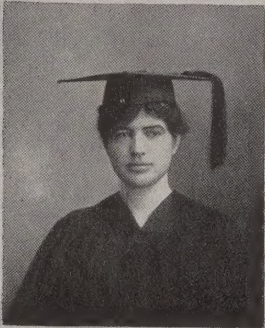

MARY E. YANCEY, A. B., Treasurer
South Hill, Va.

"A full, rich nature, free to trust, Truthful and almost sternly just."

In Mary, we have the all-round girl. If there is any new movement for the betterment of affairs, you need not hesitate to say that Mary is in true accord with it. In fact, she is one that will fit well in any place and that place will be better for having had her there.

ELLEN WRIGHT, A. B.
Rye Cove, Va.

*"A perfect woman, nobly planned,
To warm, to comfort and command."*

Ellen Wright is all that her name implies; an apt, conscientious student; a girl among girls. She is the laughing, black-haired, blue-eyed girl who has found her way into all our hearts. She seems to have been put into our midst for the purpose of making the rainy days full of sunshine. How can enough be said of her?

ANNIE LOU DEAN, B. L.
Okolona, Miss.

*"She that was fair and never proud,
Had tongue at will, and yet was never loud."*

Of an influential personality, and unfathomable nature, she accomplishes that on which her efforts have been placed. Of many significant examples, we recall the way in which she aptly eliminated all of V. I.'s doubt as to the capabilities of our Senior basket ball team.

PEARL RUSH, A. B., Music
Tomkinsville, Ky.

*"So like they were, no mortal might one
from the other know."*

The Senior Class of V. I. C. is justly proud of its twins. A powerful aid in any movement, they usually accomplish what they go in for. Double strength can do twice the work of a single one. The Twins live a merry life. Their only real trouble is that of forgetting which is which, but fortunately there is never any serious result.

HANNIE GIBBS, A.B., Vice-President
Marion, N. C.

"A happy soul that all the way to Heaven hath a summer day."

Hannie always has a smile for everyone, and the kind of a smile that lingers on her face. Loath are we to term this a fault, but as she is about to leave college, it is safe to counsel discrimination as to the quantity and distribution of her beams.

MARY GLEN PHILIPPS
Bristol, Tenn.

*"A countenance in which did meet,
Sweet records, promises as sweet,
A creature not too bright nor good
For human nature's daily food."*

Mary Glen has won the love and esteem of her class mates, although she has been in our midst only a short time. She is an earnest student of Expression, and we look forward with interest to a successful future for her.

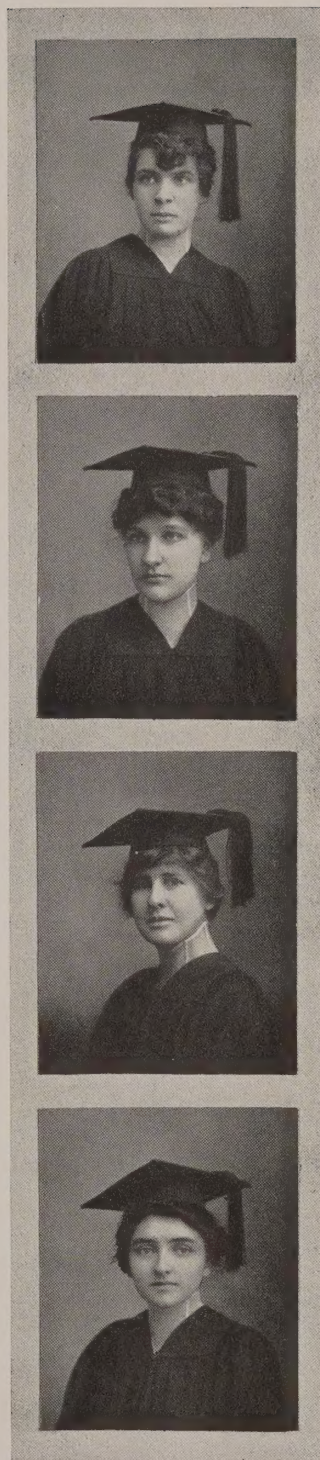

MARY CRENSHAW, A. B.
Meadow View, Va.

"Nature she loved and next to nature, Art."

A solid girl with a mathematical brain, she uses that substance "good common sense." She may be a dreamer of dreams, but she is also a doer of deeds. A proof of this has been given by her excellent work as a President of the Harrisonian Literary Society, and by the performance of duty as member of the Executive Board.

EDITH KELLEY, A. B.
Bristol, Tenn.

Sullins College Senior.

MARY EVA JOHNSON
Brooksville, Miss.

"In her eyes is the light of understanding."

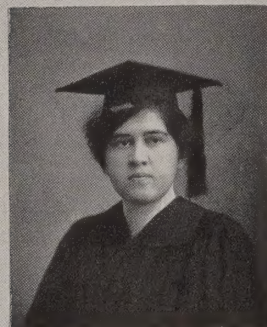

Eva leaves, or we should say, takes with her a memorable record of a good student, a public speaker, a good basket ball player, and, in addition to these, the friendship of all. Endowed thus, we predict for Eva success in all she undertakes.

RUTH HENDERSON. A. B., Secretary
Council, Va.

"Not by years, but by disposition is wisdom acquired."

"Red" is the class baby, but no one would believe it. Although young in years, she is certainly not diminutive in size. Neither are her accomplishments intellectually in capsule form. In event of a speech being called for from her, one remembers to put her on a tall stump.

RUTH PITTS. A. B.

"Her life has many hopes and aims."

Ruth is all independence from the top of her head to the soles of her feet. She works hard at all times, and has succeeded in appropriating many repetitions of the first letter of the alphabet on those important slips that go out from the office every quarter. She is noble and sympathetic, and always ready to lend a listening ear to the appeal of those in trouble.

MARY TINDELL, Music

"Decision of character makes for success in life."

Mary is a girl with a will. She is never indifferent to anything that comes up. She is either in for it with soul and body, or down on it to the same extent. Music is her chosen work, in which she excels.

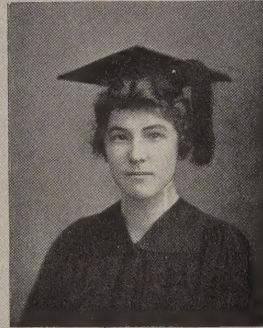

KATHERINE BREINER, A. B.
Bristol, Va.

Sullins College Senior.

ELIZABETH DRINLSHARD, A. B.
Bristol, Tenn.

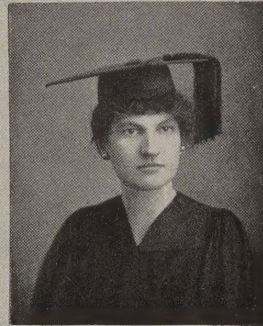

Sullins College Senior.

CORINNE HIGGINS, Voice
Texarkana, Tex.

"Everything about her drawn from the Maytime and the cheerful dawn."

Our soprano, and a Texas girl of whom we have every reason to be proud, possesses a voice wonderfully sweet in quality and freshness which give it a special charm. Though fond of her music, she doesn't neglect other duties. She takes an active interest in the Y. W. C. A.

LILLIAN BRANCH, Music
Ivor, Va.

"If music be the food of love, play on."

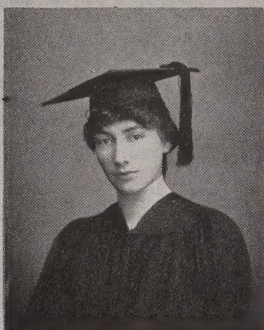

Her keen sense of humor is only known to her close friends. It is only kindly humor, it does not bite or sting. Music is Lillian's life work, and we feel assured that in this line she will find success.

LILLIAN BURCH, B. S.
Bristol, Tenn.

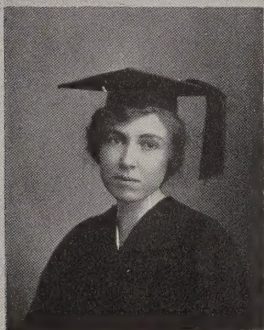

Sullins College Senior.

MILDRED PFAUF, Domestic Art-Science
Portsmouth, Ohio

"Be good, sweet Maid."

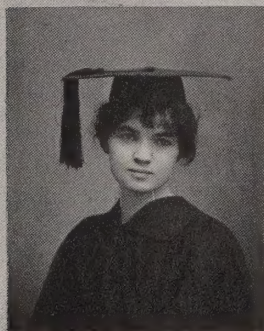

Mildred has none of the qualities that her name implies, for of her own merits—in true modesty she is dumb. But all who know her recognize her kindness of heart, her ready sympathy and true devotion to her work.

MARY PRESTON GRAY, Art
Bristol, Va.

"Smiling always with a never fading serenity of countenance."

She comes with one smile, her own; she leaves not one, but many, in her wake.

HALLIE BEARD, A. B.
Bristol, Va.

Sullins College Senior.

IRENE BOHANAN, A. B.
Rio Grande, Ohio

"Wise to resolve and patient to perform."

Irene may be called the faithful. She is rather a quiet, grey-eyed girl but full of surprises. One could say that she is talented along all lines—a good literary student and a promising musician. Especially is she distinguished as a conscientious performer of all duties.

LORENA TERRY, A. B.
Honaker, Va.

"Her sunny looks Hang on her temples like a golden fleece."

Lorena's mind is balanced between work and laughter. If she would only stick to the former there is no telling what wonders she might accomplish, but the laughter at times gets control of affairs. However, this does not cause serious results.

VIRGINIA ARMSTRONG, A. B.
Rogersville, Tenn.

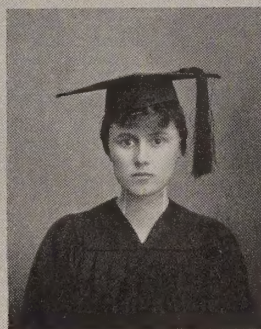

*"We know her by her angry air,
Her big brown eyes, her dark brown hair."*

One who looks into Virgie's brown eyes would see in them the reflection of a mind that could accomplish marvelous things. But Virginia is the type that "if she will, she will, you may depend on't, and if she won't, she won't, and there's an end on't."

JESSE BURGE, Music
Martinsville, Va.

"She most lives, who thinks most, feels the noblest, and acts the best."

Her placid quietude of bearing gives no hint of the wonderfully exquisite music of her voice, and her efficient work as President of the Y. W. C. A.

SCHOOL SONG

Here's to the school we love so well!
Here's to the flag she flies!
Here's to her daughters the best on earth,
Under the smiling skies;

Here's to Virginia Intermont,
In honor she'll never lack.
We sing her praises both far and wide.
Here's to the Orange and Black.

SULLINS SENIORS

We're six Sullins Seniors
Adopted by kind V. I. C.,
And right glad of the adoption
Which we trust you plainly see.
And why we are here
You ask us to explain?
Now, what has been our loss
Is told to you with pain:
'Twas the last night of the Year,
In old Nineteen-fifteen,
Our school home burned to the ground,
And left us sad, I ween.
Although we're grieved and sad,
Still with loyal hearts we'll tell—
And hope you'll hearken to it—
Our dear old song and Sullins' yell.
"S-u-ll-i-n and s spells Sullins! Sullins!
We're proud of all the learned blood that's in her!
Dare a man to say a word agin 'er!
S-u-ll-i-n and s, you see,
It's a name that a shame never has been connected with.
Sullins, that's we!"

"Y. W. C. A."

The Y. W. C. A. is one of the organizations which make V. I. famous. There's not a thing in school from Morals to House Cleaning that it has not attempted to reform. It claims practically every girl in school for an enthusiastic supporter, it radiates the Blue Ridge spirit, and it owns a baby! Yes, in reality, one of its very own, little Virginia Isobel Carrington, (little V. I. C. for short), who is now being cared for by the Y. W. C. A. and some day will come to complete her education in our Alma Mater.

The Executive Board of the Student Body

April the First, 1916, instead of being an 'All Fools' Day' was a day of rejoicing for Virginia Intermont College. The reason for this was that everyone was aware that Student Government had been thoroughly installed.

Careful preparation for this eventful occasion had been made. Each class had previously selected members to make up a committee to draft the Constitution. The Senior Class had appointed Marguerite Shepherd, Marian Sullivan, and Eugenia Patten; the Junior Class, Grace Cruikshank, Grace Pool and Gilberta Smith; the Sophomore, Freshmen, Sub-Freshmen and Special classes, respectively, sent Mabel Lowe, Cynthia Addington, Helen Barlowe and Roween Kahle. Their work having been completed, every student pledged herself heartily to support the Constitution. Marguerite Shepherd was chosen President, Grace Cruikshank, Vice-President, and Mary Thomasson Secretary-Treasurer. The Proctors chosen were Mary Yancey, Mary Crenshaw and Kathleen Litz. These six members, together with a representative from each class, made up the Executive Board.

During the short time Student Government has been in operation, it has been a complete success. We predict that in the future it will be one of the factors to help form and create "The Greater V. I. C."
